

As a result of MBRCT's funding and support of the Montana Technology Innovation Partnership (MTIP) program, MTIP's experienced counselors are available to help applicants:

- understand MBRCT's mission and the types of projects it funds;
- understand what is required to write a competitive MBRCT grant proposal;
- articulate an appropriate commercialization strategy for the technology being proposed; and
- determine the completeness of a draft proposal relative to MBRCT guidelines.

To take advantage of this assistance, applicants should complete a Request for Services form at MTIP's website (www.mtip.mt.gov). Eligible applicants for MTIP's services—which include individuals and companies, but not university researchers—can receive one-on-one technical assistance with their proposals at no cost. Availability of assistance will be subject to time and demand.
